SHOWS FRIEND NEW RIFLE AND IS SHOT

Pecos Presbytery Refuses to Accept Resignation of Roswell Preacher.

Roswell, N. M., Nov. 4.—As a result of carelessness in removing the cartridges from a cheap 22 caliber rifle he had just bought, before handing it to a friend to examine, Roswell Preacher is at St. Mary's hospital with an ugly wound in his thigh, the ball shattering the bone. The accident happened soon after the two men had left town, returning to their home in the mountains. The wound did not bleed a drop and by the time a buggy was sent out to him he was suffering so an auto had to be sent for to bring him in.

A called meeting of the Pecos Valley presbytery, held at Roswell to consider the resignation of Rev. W. C. Alexander, D. D., pastor of the First Presbyterian church of Roswell, lasted all day and resulted in the presbytery declining to sever the pastoral relations, the committee asking for delay until January 1, 1911, to obtain information as to the cause.

SANTA FE COAL CHUTE DESTROYED

Clovis, N. M., Nov. 4.—The coal chute of the Santa Fe at Clovis caught fire from an unknown cause and before the fire department of the Santa Fe or that of the city arrived on the scene the flames had such headway that the loss was more than $2000. The machinery injured by the fire was shipped to Topeka for repairs and the chute will be rebuilt as soon as possible.

Hon. J. E. Clark, territorial superintendent of public instruction, arrived in Clovis from Albuquerque and spent several days here visiting the schools in this city and in the rural districts of the county. He was accompanied by county superintendent L. C. Mersfelder.

John Anderson, vice president of the Clovis National bank, has returned from Oklahoma City and other cities in that state, where he has been on business for the bank for the past week.

The Aid society of the Christian church gave a reception at the home of Mrs. Lizzie Clark on South Wallace street, in honor of the new pastor, Rev. Mr. Quiggins, and his family, who recently arrived from Southport, England, and will make their home here. The reception room and dining room, decorated with palms and brightened with a profusion of flowers, were thronged all during the evening with members of that church and many other friends. The hostess, assisted by Mrs. Walter Reagan, served a dainty luncheon at the close of an interesting program, consisting of several short addresses and music.

The young people of the Presbyterian church gave a delightful Halloween party at the home of the pastor, Rev. Mr. Jones. More than 100 invitations were mailed and soon after dark troops of ghosts all clad in white came from every direction and were admitted into the house, dimly lighted by jack-o-lanterns.

The Clovis high school basketball team, captained by Mrs. L. S. Snuffer, will go to Portland, N. M., Saturday to play the girls of the Portales team. During the Curry County Teachers' institute, which met in Melrose last week, the Clovis and Melrose teams played a series of three games. In two of the games one of the teachers of the Melrose school played, which is not in accordance with the rules of the Amateur Athletic association, and Clovis refused to count these as a fair test. The other game was won by the Clovis team.

SOCIALISM IN TEXAS

The Creed and Program As Declared By the Socialist Candidate for Governor

Rev. Reddin Andrews, Socialist candidate for governor of Texas, in his letter accepting the nomination, says: "The records of the nations inform us that the first industrial system of the world was slavery; that, after centuries, it was supplanted by feudalism which, in turn and time, gave way to capitalism. Industrial and political developments point unerringly to the collapse of capitalism and the inauguration of socialist commonwealths within the life of the present generation."

Our Government All Wrong.
Standing squarely upon the principles of the Declaration of Independence, we entertain the purpose and determination "to alter or abolish" the present capitalistic government which does not meet the ends of justice nor regard the interests of the masses.

In the development and conduct of the industries of our country, capitalism has demonstrated its inefficiency. In its use of money, and in the concentration of its business interests into trusts, in order to prevent the waste of competition in production, and to increase profits and dividends for the few, capitalism has taught us some valuable lessons in cooperation. We purpose to utilize those lessons for the good of all the people, and thus show ourselves to be apt students of economics.

Robbed of Four-fifths.
The machinery of production and the means of distribution, through privilege or class legislation, through favoritism or governmental patronage, have gone into the possession of a few people who, without compassion or community of interests, exploit the laffths of the fruits of their toil to fiftths of the fruits of their toil to which they alone are entitled. The time has come when, through education, through the exercise of what little political liberty they have, and through their experience as operators in the instruments of production and distribution, they must get possession of political power in order to save themselves from the harsh and unnatural conditions of poverty and slavery into which they are driven further, day by day.

Collective Ownership.
Capitalism, justifying the vicious, age long system of economics based upon the private ownership of public utilities, owns the means, sources and resources of life and well being. Consequently it virtually owns those who operate its machinery and do its work. It has come to be recognized by Socialists, and by many other thinkers as a reigning, ruling, robbing and ruling power. We are thoroughly convinced that the only solution to the great industrial problems of the world is to be found in the public or collective ownership and democratic administration of all things that are of public use and interest.

Very Bad and Getting Worse.
Students of economic, industrial and political conditions, past and present, must be convinced of two things: first, that conditions are very bad and rapidly growing worse; and, second, that something must be done at once to change them for the better. If they are to continue as they are today, and will be tomorrow, the world will be without hope of beneficial change. Government statistics for the show that more than 10,000,000 of farms in the United States were cultivated by renters; that more than 2,000,000 were owned by farmers but were under mortgages; that 65 percent of the tillers of the soil are tenants. In the absence of the statistics for this year it is safe to say that 14,000,000 of farms in our country are tilled by renters, or are under mortgages, and that 75 percent of the tillers of the soil are tenants. If such facts and figures do not alarm the citizen, it is because he does not think, or that he is incapable of thinking.

Most Despotism and Despicable.
We are compelled to take into account other alarming conditions. All manufactured articles are trustified. Consumers pay from five to ten times the cost of production. Properties of corporations are capitalized at from 5 to 10 times the value of their stocks. The people are kept in poverty, or on a constant strain, because they are forced to pay so dearly for the "waters of Marah." Profits, rents, interests, revenues and dividends are rapidly making paupers of our people and transferring our government into a most despotism and despicable oligarchy of wealth. Frictions, strikes, boycotts, lockouts, panics, unemployment, tramps, poverty, crime, divorce, disease and death are the constant incidents and attendants of our brutal system. Selfishness and inhumanity are fostered by it to such an extent as to prevent the growth of love and confidence, and to render well nigh impossible the existence of any but a name, hypocritical, Pharisaic religious life. It is insane, chaotic. Note the paradox: It has method in its madness!

Free Love and Free Lust.
It possesses the arbitrary power to "divide up" with the laborer, who alone produce wealth—the wealth of the world—and to appropriate the vast larger share. In a physical sense it destroys the home by depriving the people of the means and opportunity to procure homes. In a moral sense it destroys the home by encouraging and fostering the reign of law, morals, free loveism, or free lustism. Its genius is the genius of individualism, its spirit, the spirit of anarchy. Its mottoes—"Look out for No. 1" and "Everyone for himself and the devil take the hindmost"—betray its heartless and unfeeling character.

Initiative, Referendum and Recall.
The principles of a pure democracy include popular franchise, direct legislation, or the initiative and referendum, and the right of recall. We have been deceived and bamboozled long enough by the specious and mendacious slogan of the knavish politicians and demagogues, "Ours is a government of the people, by the people and for the people." Our government is really a government of the courts, for the courts are the plutocrats. The people have nothing to do with the government but to obey their masters when they are ordered to pay taxes, go to war, and vote for the candidates that have been groomed, coached, curried, rubbed down and selected by the few men who manipulate partisan machinery.

The Infamous Poll Tax.
A few hollow pretexts, but no good reasons and no real arguments, are offered by capitalism, or its ignorant and designing tools, for the adoption of certain qualifications for the elective franchise. The infamous poll tax, the unreasonable educational qualification and the villainous money basis of franchise are nothing but the contemptible and blasphemous conspiracies, the insidious tricks of plutocracy to disfranchise and suppress the masses.

Illiterate or Better Fitted.
There are millions of just, prudent, sensible but illiterate people who understand better than thousands of the learned but more or less venal leaders of political parties, the value and significance of a vote. It is not the unlettered masses, but the lettered classes, that have caused the political, industrial and economic miseries of the world. In a real democratic state, sane manhood and womanhood must and will constitute the only basis of elective franchise. The right of every man and every woman to express at the ballot box, by the word of mouth or by holding up the hanging of a preference for laws under which they shall live and for officials who shall conduct any departments of service under government, is as inalienable, or rather as natural, as the rights of life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness.

Woman Suffrage.
We can never attain to the highest—or even a very high—degree of civilization until there is a recognition of the perfect political and industrial equality and independence of men and women. More than 5,000,000 of women in the United States are engaged in gainful occupations. They are wage slaves and are dependent upon their masters for the means of living. The attitude of capitalism towards woman suffrage is one of savage hostility. This reason for this is obvious. The class conscious woman laborer, like the class conscious man laborer, will become a class conscious Socialist and vote for her own interests.

The Wage Slave.
It is a part of the capitalist program to antagonize every interest of the laboring class. As its individual interests and profits rise, the wages of its slaves fall. As the wages of its slaves rise, its interest, profits and dividends fall. This is the plain statement of the class conflict which has raged through the centuries, but which is destined soon to end in better industrial conditions for our people.

Would Vote for Postmaster.
It will be understood, therefore, that our purpose is to establish a political and industrial democracy, in which all the men and all the women, in present, county, state or nation, as they may be affected locally or generally, shall have the opportunity to vote for every official or manager, from the president down to the cross-roads postmaster and backwoods teacher, and for every law under which they are to live.

It would be impossible to overestimate the item in the industrial demands of our people which expresses the purpose of Socialists to order the employment at wage labor of children under 16 years of age. They will be taken out, or rather kept out of the sweat shops, factories, mines and fields where, by the workings of the present inhuman industrial system and the necessities of the existing economic dispensation, they are compelled to go in order to gain a scant subsistence for themselves and to help others to live. They will be sent into the schools, from the kindergartens to the universities, conducted by the sons and daughters of thought. They will be permitted, in the interests of a more glorious humanity and a nobler race, to have and to enjoy a happier and freer and a more exuberant youth, and to grow in mind and body into fine and worthy specimens of true manhood and womanhood. The only value that capitalism places upon the lives of the "little brothers" and "little sisters" of the poor is expressed in the profits gathered out of their underpaid toils, underfed bodies and under nourished minds. If our legislators who, with rare exceptions, are the flunkies of capitalism, the executive committee of plutocracy, say or do anything about burdened, parasite-eaten, trust-exploited and poverty-stricken country. In the labora, throes, joys and hopes of a mighty revolution, I am your comrade, Reddin Andrews.

CARRIZOZO MAN IS SERIOUSLY INJURED
Carrizozo, N. M., Nov. 4.—Jacob Ziegler, senior member of the firm of Ziegler Bros., was thrown from a dray here, falling on his right side and receiving a compound fracture of the right forearm and serious internal injuries. Mr. Ziegler was riding on the dray which was coming down the alley back of the store, when the driver suddenly wheeled the horses to the left, turning down Main street, and the sudden turning of the dray threw Mr. Ziegler to the pavement. Mr. Ziegler is a man about 60 years of age and weighs over 200 pounds.

There is very little grass on the range around Carrizozo this fall on account of the long drouth this summer. Most of the stock has been moved to other ranges or shipped to eastern markets.

H. Dixon, who for a long time was chief dispatcher at this point and who owns a ranch seven miles west of town, left a few days ago for Vaughn, where he has a position as dispatcher with the Santa Fe railroad.

A number of people from this place are in El Paso attending the fair. The new high school building is being roofed this week and will soon be ready for occupancy.

The rip track at the shops is at present full of wrecked cars that have been brought in from the wreck at Robart.

Next Monday at Alamogordo a hearing will be had before Judge E. R. Wright in the quo warranto proceedings in which the county commissioners are enjoined from doing any more work on the new courthouse here.

MEMPHIS CENSUS RETURNS SHOW WHITES AND BLACKS
Washington, D. C., Nov. 4.—Census returns for Memphis, Tenn., which will be announced in a few days, will show not only the total population, but will indicate a division of the races, the number of whites and number of colored persons attending separately. It is the first city in which such a division is made.

The population of San Francisco and Los Angeles also will be announced shortly.

CLOUDCROFT NOTES.
Cloudcroft, N. M., Nov. 4.—A number of Cloudcroft citizens are attending the El Paso fair this week.
J. K. Houser has come in from the country to his house next to Mr. Taggart, having sold his farm to a Mr. Kirkland, of Oklahoma.
A Hollowell dance was enjoyed at the Virginia hotel. The "ghost walk" and "dances" at this point and the members of Everybody's club held a business meeting at the home of Misses Carter and Spellman to discuss the details of the plan for church improvement. A number of committees were appointed.

Lanier Of the Cavalry

By General Charles King, U. S. A.

Copyright, 1909, by J. B. Lippincott Company.

"It's all I have had to wear, sir," was the answer as, rising, he took the garment from the arm of his chair and laid it upon the table, exposing a rent or gash, whereupon Captain Sumter took from an envelope a silver of yellow cloth and fitted it into the gap. "This," said he, "I found on the book of the storm sash, and this," laying beside it a rusty sheath knife, "was later found under the snow close under the dormer window." Then, turning the overcoat inside out, he displayed on the back lining in stenciled name "Rawdon."

"And now," said Riggs, "we will hear the accused."

"It isn't necessary," began Button. "It is necessary, Colonel Button. Of course Mr. Lanier is not obliged to speak, but a few matters remain to be cleared up. There is yet the time honored problem of 'who struck Billy Patterson?'"

"The matter is quite simple," said Lanier. "I went direct from the dancing room to my quarters. The fire was low, and I went back to call Rafferty. He didn't answer, so I had to lug in some fuel. His overcoat hung in the kitchen, and I put that on, and as I opened the back door there came the scream from up the row. I saw others running toward Captain Sumter's as I started from the back gate. Then a man rushed past me, and then somebody sprang from Captain Snaffle's yard, and I went headlong. I was on my feet in a second, but he had me round the neck, ordering me to surrender. I let him have two hard ones right and left. Somebody else collided with us. We all went down. The last man was up first and ran away with the first cap he could reach, and I followed, knowing now it wasn't fire, but robbery. Then when I realized no life was in danger I remembered I was in arrest, dropped the chase and went straight to my quarters. Both hands were bruised and left badly cut. I am sorry, of course, to have struck Sergeant Fitzroy, but the language he used was vile, and it seemed to me the only way to convince him I was not Trooper Rawdon."

"Colonel Button, have you any questions?" demanded Riggs.

"Why didn't you tell me this?" demanded Button.

"I should have been glad to, colonel. Indeed, I tried to the last time I was in the office."

"Well, gentlemen," said the colonel, "we seem to have stirred up a pretty kettle of fish." Yet even Snaffle disowned complicity. He always had said Lanier was a perfect gentleman. And so ended Bob's arrest. Rawdon lingered for a word with Cassidy, Quinlan and poor remorseful Rafferty; charge. There was no serious objection to his re-enlistment. Even Snaffle dare not "take him on" again.
